A MUST ! MUST ! READ

By Cecly Ann Mitchell

What a novel! The Sense of Honor is a fascinating tale of survival, sacrifice; and of finding love where and when you least expect it. The lead characters are captivating, scaling what may appear to be insurmountable odds to ensure that their love endures.

The narrative is at a pace where the reader is never bored. You want to be there at Bellewyck -a fly on the wall- and witness to events that come together to make this a riveting good read. You are caught in the wake of the richness of the narrative and the reality of the dialogue, thus feeling every breath, seeing each facial expression, whether be it a smile or wintry stare.

This is a novel you would read non-stop until the very last full-stop! And even when complete, you want to read and re-read this novel.

Ah.... to be Chistiana and Devlin!

Wonderful Read!!

By Lydia M. Ayala-Parris

This book is a MUST for the avid reader.I have been reading gothic romance since age 15 and this book was worth EVERY second I spent reading it.After reading for so many years, some books tend to get monotonous but what I absolutely loved about this one is that it keeps you in suspense from one chapter to the next.Just when you think you have figured out the story,this author supprises you and gives you another twist and keeps you guessing anew!I really identified with all of the characters and would even love to see this made into a movie....by all means, BUY!!!

By Rolanda M. Lehn

This book was an awesome read from beginning to end and I could not put it down once I started reading. I have read numerous historical/romance novels and this one ranks up there with my favorites. The hero and heroine are such strong characters, and the storyline held my interest throughout. I would highly recommend this book to anyone who likes a historical, romantic, suspenseful read. I cannot wait for the next book from this author! Enjoy!
